Kaiser to Give 24-Hour Emergency Service

The emergency hospital crisis in the North county was resolved somewhat this week when Kaiser Foundation hospital in South San Francisco informed Daly City officials that it would maintain a 24-hour emergency service.

The closing of Junipero Serra Emergency hospital Monday to make way for a new freeway had threatened to leave the North county area without emergency facilities.

Patients would otherwise have had to be transported to Peninsula hospital in Burlingame, approximately 20 minutes away, by car.

City Manager Edward Frank said notices informing residents of the Kaiser service have been sent with water bills.

Prior to the closing of Junipero Serra hospital, a 12-bed private facility owned and operated by Dr. Lawler Drees, the South San Francisco hospital's emergency facilities were not readily available.

City Manager Edward Frank said "The emergency set-up with Kaiser is an interim measure until the opening of Mary's Help hospital in 1965."

The construction of Mary's Help hospital in south Daly City is planned primarily because north San Mateo county has been classified "the most urgent in need in California" by the Bureau of Hospitals of the State Health departament.

San Francisco facilities are not available to San Mateo county residents because that city's hospitals are tax-supported by its residents.

Dr. Pierre Salmon, superintendent of institutional and clinical service for the San Mateo county Health Service, said the county "doesn't anticipate any major problem with the closing of Junipero Serra hospital."

"The treatment given there was the same as a person would receive in a doctor's office," Salmon said. And he added:

"The construction of Mary's Help will take care of the problem in the future," he said. "In the interim, however, Peninsula hospital and Kaiser will handle the emergency cases."

Dr. Drees plans to move to 185 School street, where he will maintain office hours from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

On the notices sent with water service bills, the city advises in case of emergency:

(1) Call Mercy Ambulance Service, WY 2-1644. Unless otherwise directed, the patients will be taken to Kaiser Foundation hospital in South San Francisco or Peninsula hospital in Burlingame.

(2) If the emergency appears to be heart failure, call the Daly City police department at PL 5-4212.

Meanwhile, construction on Mary's Help hospital is expected to begin next month, according to hospital officials.

The new facility is expected to cost $8,353,000. Plans call for 250 beds. The hospital will be administered by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul.

Pacifica Murder Charge Is Lodged

A 25-year-old father of two was arraigned on a murder charge before Municipal Judge Charles Becker in South San Francisco Monday in connection with the murder of a Pacifica housewife.

Investigators said Joseph P. Hall of 132 Brighton road, Pacifica, admitted struggling with Mrs. Lillian F. Wales, 57, of 331 Clifton drive, atop a 150-foot cliff south of Mori's Point early Sunday morning.

Her body was found, badly battered, floating in the surf. Hall insisted that he attempted to grab Mrs. Wales and prevent her fall before she toppled over the cliff, police said.

Pacifica Police Chief Neil Tremaine reported that Hall had failed to pass a lie detector test. Investigators said Hall has a long misdemeanor record. He is the father of two boys, 1½ and five-years-old.

According to a story given by Hall, an employe of the Friendly Acres water company in Redwood City, he had met Mrs. Wales, the wife of Chester G. Wales, 56, a Pacifica carpenter at Ann's Drive-In on Cabrillo highway in Sharp Park.

Admits Parking

Hall, who admitted drinking beer during much of the day, said he struck up a conversation with Mrs. Wales, who was also drinking beer.

About midnight the couple purchased a six-pack of beer and drove to an isolated area of Sharp Park to drink it.

Hall admitted becoming involved in some "horseplay" with Mrs. Wales, and at one time he said she knocked him to the ground.

The "horseplay" apparently became more violent, Tremaine reported, when Mrs. Wales spurned Hall's advances.

Toppled Off Cliff

Hall told Tremaine and Inspector Al Tebaldi that he hit Mrs. Wales as she stood near the edge of the cliff. He claimed he attempted to grab her as she toppled over the edge, but she plunged down the precipice.

Hall said he went back to his car and fell asleep. He said he awakened about 4 a.m.

Mrs. Wales' body was found later Sunday after Emmett E. Langwell, of Daly City, noticed her purse, some clothing, and some broken pieces of false teeth in the sand, after going to the beach near Mori's Point to pick up some gravel. Langwell placed the articles in his pickup truck and drove immediately to the police station several miles away.

Body In Surf

Officers who returned to the scene could see Mrs. Wales' body being washed back and forth in

Land Bought in Major Arterial Street Project

By RON BATES

The Daly City council moved one legal step nearer to the start of a major city road project Monday night.

Land was purchased and other lands earmarked for condemnation proceedings on the $500,000 Knowles-Los tween the two major traffic arteries in Daly City, is six months away from the start of construction.

Purchase Authorized

The council authorized purchase of six parcels of land, including a site occupied by B'nai Israel temple.

The council also authorized City Attorney Paul Hupf to begin condemnation proceedings, if necessary, on seven parcels of land, all fronting on Los Banos street.

Hupf explained that the city can only pay the price set by the appraiser and cannot negotiate as a private individual does on a piece of property.

If the owner of the land feels that the property is worth more and can prove it in a court of law, the city would have to pay more, he said.

"We can offer only one price," he observed.

The city must proceed under "the determination of public necessity" act to prevent a landowner from halting work on the project.

In purchasing the land, Hupf cautioned the council about permitting owners to stay on the property until the start of construction.

He said if people stay, the city may run into problems "getting them out." The natural tendency is to "put off today what you can do later" and they might wait until too late, delaying the project, he said.

Council members indicated they were concerned about working a hardship on some of the people involved.

One group, for example, would have to find another place of worship, Mayor Joseph Verducci pointed out.

"Time Enough"

City Manager Edward Frank said that with the construction date set six months away, a 90-day period "is time enough to work out any problems."

The council directed the staff to study the problem.

The council also received a check for $27,500 in advance payment of county aid to Daly City for the Knowles-Los Banos project.

In other action the council:

Received approval of the Mary's Help hospital annexation from the San Mateo county Boundary commission.

Received approval and a yes recommendation for the Bayshore annexation from the Daly City Planning commission.

Approved the issuance of business licenses to 10 firms, including

NO LUNCHES AT HOME

Jeff May Become 'Closed' Campus

By DON MILLER

Jefferson High school probably will become a "closed" campus in the fall of this year, trustees of the Jefferson Union High school district were told Monday night.

This means that students no longer will have the option of leaving school at lunchtime.

District Superintendent Edward D. Morgan told the trustees that Jefferson principal John Mongan had told him the new policy probably would be put into effect.

By this fall, Morgan explained, reconstruction and expansion of Jefferson will have proceeded to an advanced stage. School grounds, he indicated, would be fenced in by then.

The district's other three high schools, Oceana, Terra Nova and Westmoor, now operate on a "closed" campus basis.

Jefferson Parking

Morgan's comments to the board came during another discussion on parking at Jefferson.

Elio Fontana, who acted as president of the board in the absence of James Cooper who was ill, said he thought that parking conditions "seem to be of great concern" to residents in the Jefferson area. He asked Morgan for a review of the situation.

The superintendent said that the small site on which Jefferson is located—about 20 acres—does not permit expansive parking facilities if the educational program is to be kept commensurate with the district high schools.

He explained that the present parking lot at Jefferson holds 55 to 56 autos and that after the reconstruction program, spaces will be available for 96.

These 96 spaces, he indicated, would take care of practically all of the school's employees but none of the students.

"We will never have enough room at Jefferson for student parking," he observed. "But then, we have relative few students who drive."

He added that Morgan had informed him that students "for a number of years" have not been permitted to park on campus. And he concluded that the "off-campus parking situation should not be any different" after the reconstruction program "than it has been historically."

Rezoning Opposed

In other action, the board voted to go on record against an application by William Lagomarsino of 7100 Mission street to rezone a lot on the northwest corner of West Cavour and Bruno streets from R-1 to R-3 residential class.

The application was presented to the Daly City Planning commission last night.

Morgan said the rezoning could conceivably open the way to an

High Level Meeting Set

The trustees of five North County School districts will sit down with State Senator Richard Dolwig and Assemblyman Leo Ryan at 9:30 Saturday morning in the library of Westmoor High school.

The trustees will air their views on legislation pending in Sacramento that affects school districts and education. James Cooper, president of the Jefferson Union High School board, will serve as chairman.

Cow Palace Will Expand

The Cow Palace — a choice piece of property that will become a part of Daly City if present annexation moves are successfully concluded—is due for a major expansion.

The arena's board of directors this week announced plans for a $3,044,564 program that would expand the Cow Palace as a convention and exhibition hall.

The most significant features planned are a new entrance gate to replace plywood construction and large additions to the north and south exhibit halls.

First project to be undertaken would be a two-story extension that would run out from the front of the main building and connect with the exhibition halls.

School Boards Stymied On Unification Plan

The school unification picture in the north county looked as if it were going to clear up Thursday, but a financial fog rolled in and trustees of the five school boards who met in Daly City became bogged down for the third consecutive time.

The Jefferson High school, Jefferson Elementary, Brisbane, Bayshore and Laguna Salada Elementary districts are attempting to draw an alternate unification proposal to a county committee plan that would place all of the boards under a single administrative roof in the boundaries of the high school district.

The boards have until April 16 to agree upon such a proposal.

After reaching six areas of agreement in principle, the trustees got sidetracked on tax rates, state financing, county taxes and assessed valuation.

Boards Balk

When they decided to bypass the finances and take up other points, two major items were balked at by two boards.

A Jefferson High spokesman, Elio Fontana, opposed the splintering of the high school and the creation of a separate unified district in Laguna Salada.

"Laguna Salada is not capable of taking care of itself at the present time," Fontana said. "The high school has worked well with the four elementary districts. We have grown up together. We're not as big as some people think we are."

The other district representatives were in favor of unifying Jefferson Elementary with the Brisbane and Bayshore school districts and letting Laguna Salada go it on its own.

In the other major point discussed, Jefferson Elementary balked at going back to the county committee with a recommendation retaining the status quo.

"We want unification as soon as possible," said Thomas Noonan, chairman of the elementary board, "but not according to the county committee's plan. We do not want our kids to be lost in a bureaucracy."

He pointed out that unification has proven to be the most satisfactory method of education. Approximately 67 per cent of the schools in California and 85 per cent of the schools in the United States, he said.

Noonan said the status quo recommendation would permit the county committee to push through its proposed unification configuration, which all the boards but the high school feel is too big and unwieldly.

Fontana and Al Zigler of Brisbane argued that a status quo recommendation by the boards would have considerable weight at the voting polls where any unification plan would have to go for eventual approval.

The areas of agreement were:

All children should have an equal opportunity for education.

The state system for financing schools need "a drastic working over."

Unification for financial reasons alone is bad for four reasons: (1) it frequently creates overly large districts (2) does little to improve the finances of some districts while reducing the finances of others; (3) disrupts excellent educational programs in existence without offering improvement; (4) creates districts lacking natural geographical boundaries or common centers of interest, tending to destroy public identification with the school district.

No Fireworks Over Fireworks

Fireworks predicted over Pacifica's fireworks ordinance have failed to explode and city councilmen are surprised to find themselves with one less problem to solve.

City Manager Karl Baldwin announced that an amicable agreement had been reached among various community organizations seeking permits to sell fireworks preceding the Fourth of July celebration.

By majority vote, the organizations agreed to accept a limit of six permits set by the city council two years ago and to buy their supplies jointly from one supplier in order to get a free display for the city.

Permits to sell fireworks will be issued this year to the Moose Lodge, Manor Village Improvement club, Sea Scouts, Lions club, American Legion and the Babe Ruth league.

Pacifica Sweethearts have agreed to work on the Sea Scouts booth and share proceeds. Two organizations, the Pacifica Boating club and the Amateur Radio Operators' club, withdrew applications.

All profits from the sale of fireworks will go to community welfare projects.

Westmoor Gets New Scoreboard

All that leg work associated with keeping spectators informed of the score at Westmoor High school's football field is a thing of the past now.

The Westmoor student body, through proceeds raised in the sale of milkshakes at the school over the years, has purchased a new electric scoreboard.

It will eliminate the need for attendants to run up and down a long ladder on the present scoreboard to post numbers by hand.

Boy Falls Off School Roof

A 10-year-old boy was injured Monday night when he fell off the roof at the Woodrow Wilson Elementary school in Daly City.

Frank E. Walter, 272 Los Olivos street, was treated at Junipero Serra Emergency hospital for a lacerated tongue, a sprained ankle and several body bruises.

Jefferson Campus May Be 'Closed'

apartment house and that this would "further complicate the new main entrance to Jefferson, which will be completed next school year.

Fontana said any change in the zoning would "merely add to a problem that already exists."

School officials point out that the area already is congested. The lot under question is immediately south of the entrance to the Jefferson gymnasium.

In another action, the board approved an application to the federal government under the National Defense Education Act for a grant that would help the district provide language libraries at Terra Nova, Oceana and eventually Jefferson High schools.

Mexican-Americans May Quit Democratic Party

The executive board of the Mexican-American Political association has again threatened to withdraw its support from the Democratic party if discriminatory policies against the ethnic group are not eliminated.

Julius Castelan of Daly City, president of MAPA, released a report from the organization's educational council, headed by Dr. Manuel Guerra.

The council recommended that MAPA "reappraise its political support to the Democratic party of California, and if need be to pledge its support to another party that will honor its commitments and responsibilities."

Several prominent Mexican Americans in the Democratic Party last month criticized the Brown administration for ignoring the ethnic group in his appointments since re-election.

The report said that "serious discriminatory policies and practices have been in effect for more than 10 years. Faulty recruitment policy . . . reveals that Mexican-American teachers, fully qualified by professional training and experience have been rejected under a policy which conceals arbitrary selection."

"In almost every case no reason was given for such a rejection," the report stated.

"Implication and statements by responsible state officers that there are no qualified Mexican American teachers and scholars or applicants are categorically untrue," Guerra said in the report. "Many who hold masters degrees and doctorates are among the rejected."

Some of the facts cited in the council's study were:

—No administrative officers of a Mexican-American background could be found in the state college system.

—There is only one chairman of a department who is of Mexican-American origin.

—Three colleges of the 13 studied did not even employ a single Mexican-American, despite several applications by qualified persons.

The ratio of Mexican-Americans to the total faculty and administration in the state system is less than one per cent.

—One college in a county of 79,000 Mexican - American registered voters did not have a single representative on the faculty.

board of directors, disclosed that more than 600,000 persons had been in the Cow Palace in the last 30 days for sporting events and business exhibits.

He indicated that acquisition of land for more parking and better access roads is a top priority for the Cow Palace.

None of the proposed improvements would be started before next summer when the arena may become the scene of either the Democratic or Republican national conventions.

Here are other features included in the proposed expansion plan:

Two pedestrian underpasses leading to the north side of Geneva avenue from the main structure.

A large lobby to accommodate 1,500 persons, thus eliminating the necessity of waiting in ticket lines outside.

A glass-walled skyroom lounge overlooking the arena, new executive offices and nine impressive columns, separated by tinted glass panels, rising two stories high across the center front of the outside of the building.

Platforms for camera spot and follow lights, stage lighting and a catwalk for lights, draperies and backdrops.

Homework Ready For Councilmen

Five Daly City councilmen will be doing some homework over the next few months.

Their textbook will be a 44-page booklet with a proposed new zoning ordinance.

The booklet, a culmination of about 11 months of work by the city attorney, city engineer, city planning technician, the planning commission and the consultant firm of Hahn, Wise and Barber, was given to members of the council at Monday night's meeting.

The council will study the zoning ordinance, discuss it, and hold several public hearings before it is eventually adopted.

Included in the ordinance is a new zoning classification that departs from the previous height limitation and provides for construction within the zone of multiple units, motels, hospital and professional office buildings.

The new classification is known as a "Planned Development District," which, according to City Attorney Paul Hupf, "has worked with some success in Palo Alto."

Mayor Joseph Verducci said several copies of the proposed ordinance will be prepared and sent to such interested people as the developers of the Crocker and Christen lands, builders, the Chamber of Commerce and others.

Copies also will be made available at the City Manager's office for interested citizens.

Verducci said ample opportunity will be given these persons for suggestions or objections.

No. County Pair Jailed As 'Bookies'

Marked money led to the arrest of two men in San Mateo county and one in San Francisco Thursday when Treasury Department agents and local authorities cracked down on bookmaking. The raids were part of a nationwide move against gambling by revenue agents.

Arrested on bookmaking charges were Gustave C. Moedesti, 43, and Tom Guglielmi, 31, both of San Francisco, and Wade J. Hider, 26 First avenue, Daly City.

Clarence Krause, chief of the San Francisco District Intelligence Unit of the Internal Revenue Service, stated the three were doing about $10,000 a day in bets.

Guglielmi, an unemployed bartender, was arrested in an apartment at 490 Talbert street, Bayshore City, after agents broke down the door. Krause said they found betting records in the apartment.

Modesti was picked up at a Mission street cocktail lounge, of which he is part owner, and Hider at a Daly City drive-in restaurant in which is a partner. Both men had marked money used by agents in placing bets earlier.

Parents of eighth-grade students are being urged to attend the orientation meeting for parents. Deans, counselors, and administrators will be on hand to present the school program and answer any questions parents might have.

Scheduling times are available at the school district office at 359-1641.

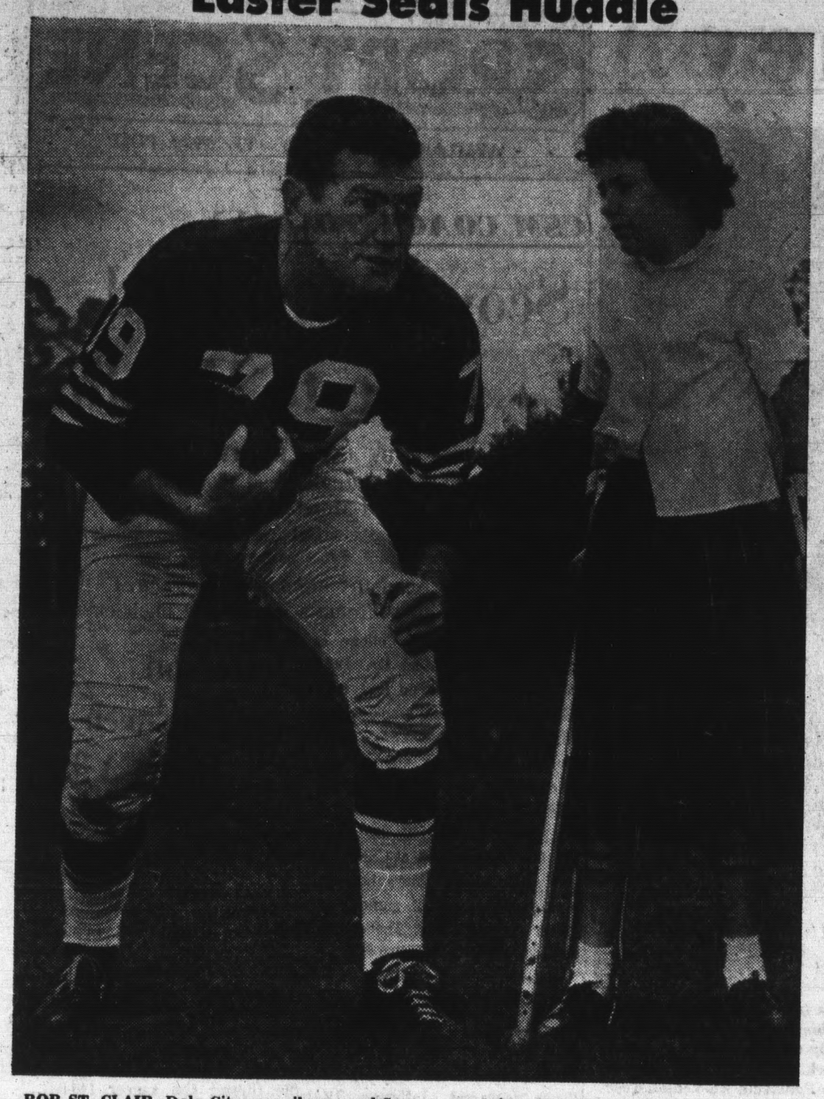
Easter Seals Huddle



BOB ST. CLAIR, Daly City councilman and San Francisco 49er football star, strikes a familiar gridiron pose for 11-year-old Sharon McMilliam of Daly City, this year's theme girl in San Mateo county for the annual Easter Seals campaign. St. Clair and Jimmy Davenport of the San Francisco Giants are co-chairmen of the San Mateo campaign. More than 130,000 letters have been sent to residents in the county, urging them to support the campaign. Proceeds are the main support of the Rehabilitation and Research center in Burlingame. The center is operated by the Society for Crippled Children and Adults of San Mateo county.

Daly City Residents Bound for San Quentin

A group of Daly City residents is going to San Quentin soon. Their crime? They play chess.

The Daly City Chess club will visit the prison to match its skill against the San Quentin team for one game in a series of games with teams in the Bay Area.

The club is a member of the El Camino Real league, sponsored by the Chess Friends of Northern California.

The San Quentin team is the only one that plays all of its games at home, said Dick Michalski, president of the local club.

Daly City last night hosted the Kolty Chess club at the War Memorial Community center.

The club meets regularly at the center every Tuesday night at 7:30 unless a match is being played away.

Membership is open to all interested chess players, experts and amatuers in the city and in surrounding communities, according to Michalski.

No dues or membership fees are charged for participation on the local level, he said, but team participation requires membership in the Chess Friends of Norther California.

"You don't have to be a whiz to join," said Michalski. "Just know the basics."

The club encourages beginners to join. Practice within the club is invaluable, the president said.

The club is approximately nine years old. Its membership has fluctuated and at the present time 15 members belong.

A Newcomers' tournament, which will be under the direction of Jerry Newhouser, is planned Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to draw new talent.

Newhouser holds one of the three offices in the club, that of tournament director. He officiates at such functions as the Newcomer tournament and team member eliminations for upcoming meets.

Michalski, Lou Korenz, and Dr. John Alden, a psychiatrist, have been in the group several years.

More information about the club may be obtained by calling the Daly City Recreation department at PL 5-0850.

Jeff Elementary Pupils Score Well in Tests

Children in the Jefferson Elementary School district scored higher than the national average in most cases in a battery of tests given to the students during the current school year.

According to a report given to the school board of trustees, youngsters in the third, fifth, seventh and eighth grades were given two series of tests—the California Test of Mental Maturity and the Iowa Tests of Basic Skills.

The results of ability and achievement tests were presented to the board in accordance with state legislation and school district policy.

Results Helpful

"We feel that the test results can be very helpful as general indicators of how the district is progressing in certain areas of the curriculum," Superintendent of Schools Richard Foster said in his report.

"But as indicated previously, their more important use is in helping to detect individual problems that children may be having so that remedial and enrichment experiences can be provided," he said.

Of 13 schools where the third grade classes were given the California test, only Crocker slipped slightly below the national average. Seven of the 13 schools were at least ten points higher. The average score of the 937 students tested was 108, eight points above a national median of 100 in all grades.

Students at Olympia and Thomas Edison averaged 115.

Testing in the fifth grade showed similar results. A total of 962 students averaged 107 in the tests. The scores ranged from 65-161.

Highest Mark

M. Pauline Brown pupils averaged 116 for the highest mark in the district.

A total of 850 students in the seventh grades at Colma Intermediate and Ben Franklin schools also were given the California Test of Mental Maturity.

Ben Franklin school scored 99 and Colma students 101. Average for all district seventh grade pupils was 99.

In the eighth grade, 521 Ben Franklin students averaged 102 and 324 Colma students 101 to give the district a 102 average over-all.

The students were tested on comprehension, arithmetic reasoning and arithmetic fundamentals.

With a third grade norm of 22 the district showed strength with an average of 4.0 in reading vocabulary and 3.8.

The district averaged 3.8 in arithmetic reasoning and 3.5 in arithmetic fundamentals.

The Iowa Tests of Basic Skills tested the students in vocabulary, reading, spelling, capitalization, punctuation, usage, maps, graphs and tables, reference materials, arithmetic concepts, and arithmetic problem solving.

In only two areas did the district fall below the expected standard. In punctuation and usage, the district's eighth grade scored 7.98 and 7.92—compared to 8.1 nationally.

In several other areas, however, the district ranked as much as a grade higher. In capitalization, for example, the district's sixth, seventh and eighth grades are doing work done nationally in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

"Although the scores reflect continuing progress on the part of our students, the list of ongoing projects submitted at the January 7 board meeting indicates that our teachers and administrators are not complacent," Foster said, "but are continually striving to improve program."

Councilman Criticizes City Unit

Councilman Les Morgan of Burlingame and Mayor Maurice Hamilton of San Bruno clashed Thursday night in a verbal battle about whether the North County Council of Cities should be dissolved, should remain as is, or be expanded.

Morgan, in connection with a comment about the NCCC's wage stabilization program, indicated his feeling that Burlingame had pulled out of the plan because it was caught in a higher wage scale area than the other north county cities, "between the devil and his pitchfork."

He suggested that NCCC members, meeting in Burlingame should consider expanding into a county-wide organization since its main purpose—wage stabilization—had failed to work out.

Councilwoman Jean Fassler of Pacifica joined Morgan in his idea that a strong league of San Mateo county cities might not be an improvement, and the limiting membership to north was a little "provincial."

Defending the north county council concept were Ed Dennis of Daly City, Don Risso of San Bruno, and Doug Morgan of Millbrae, all members of the organization when it was originally formed in 1948.

But the main rebuttal came from Hamilton, who accused Morgan of "trying to wreck this organization." Hamilton asked, "Could you tell me this, why have you always wanted to wreck this organization. I seem to remember that you once moved that we dissolve."

"I deny ever making any such motion," Morgan said. The discussion then dissolved into a general discussion of the wage problem.

Main speaker at the meeting, which was held at Bob's on Broadway, was Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald of San Bruno, who reported on the progress of the county-wide road plan bond issue.

He indicated the cities should have their changes in to the county engineering office before March 13. After that date any proposed changes should go to the Greater Highways committee. Election on the bond issue will be held in conjunction with the school election in April.

Asked to comment on what effect a proposed private rapid transit system would have Fitzgerald stated that the road improvements will still be needed for internal travel on the Peninsula whether or not a rapid transit system is built.

Vandals at Work

Vandals caused more than $2000 damage at Jefferson High school over the weekend, school officials reported Monday. The school is undergoing a reconstruction and expansion program.

The damage is expected to further delay work on the school. The general contractor, James E. Roberts company of Oakland, already has been granted a 63-day extension to complete the job.

School officials said the vandals ripped down three huge doors, including doors to the new main entrance, knocked over and kicked in the sides of cabinets, threw an electric generator down a stairway and pulled down temporary scaffolding and electrical wiring.

They also broke five windows, including one that will cost $770 to replace and reinstall, spilled a five-gallon container of paint and smashed metal vents, officials said.

Because of the extensive damage, the contractor was forced to call his crew off the job while insurance adjustors estimated damage.

The $2000 damage estimate was given by Jefferson Principal John Mongan who said the vandalism "looks like the work of adults."

Hi-Fi Club Plans Trip

The Hi-Fi Teen club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation department, is planning a snow trip to Dodge Ridge Saturday, March 30.

Tentative plans call for members to leave the War Memorial Community center at 5 a.m. and return at 11 p.m. Cost of the trip for each member will be about $5.

The club also is planning a dance after the championship games of a co-ed volleyball tournament, sponsored by the Recreation department, during Easter school vacation.

Other activities being considered are a Hawaiian luau and a May carnival.

HUB CAPS TAKEN

Stephen L. Waggle of 80 Fairway drive reported to Daly City police over the weekend that thieves had taken four hub caps from his car, parked in a carport. He estimated the value at $65.

The manufacture of cotton in England changed obscure places into great cities and played a large part in what is called the Industrial Revolution.

Westmoor Falls in Tourney

at the POST

LAST WEEK, I wrote about an ex-basketball player, turned cowboy actor, named Myron Green who parlayed poor co-ordination and a poker player's acting ability into a national television starring role.

This week, I'm going to tell you about an ex-pitcher turned musician who has parlayed a slow curve and a fast ear into a steady San Francisco night club starmanship.

I don't know, guess I've just got the show biz bug.

Harry Higgins — sometimes known professionally as 'Arry 'Iggins — is the subject. He's the banjo strumming leader of the group that has held forth at the Red Garter in North Beach for three years, now, in spite of some of the worst community singing voices and most corny musical requests ever assembled by man and endured by musicians.

Harry and I played three years of high school baseball together at Mission in San Francisco. When we arrived, the Bears were on an all time City record championship skein of five. After our arrival they started being runners-up and never have sufficiently recovered to win another title.

For a while during our stay, they were considering re-admitting Gus Triandos, but couldn't match the salary the Yankees were paying him at Kansas City at the time.

But I shouldn't blame Harry too much. After all, I was the guy who kept hitting .240. Harry didn't lose a varsity game in his three-year career until he ran into Jim Gentile at Seals Stadium in 1952 when Sacred Heart took the title from us for the third straight time.

I like to think that Harry and I were instrumental in helping Gentile to his $35,000 Dodger bonus, and have often thought of mentioning a possible agent's slice to him. Harry's pitching and my hitting (Gentile was signed as a pitcher) records against ole Jim sort of helped set him up in business.

But, generally, Harry was a pretty good high school pitcher. How, I'll never know. He seemed to play baseball by ear, like he plays the banjo. His techniques may not have been by the book, but his results were.

He didn't have the commonly sought prerequisites of size and speed. He got by on a big curve, pin-point control and imperturbability, which means that he had the gall to throw change-ups to guys like Gentile and usually get away with it.

Even though Harry always found a way to win, however, he just never seemed to impress the scouts.

Aside from his lack of prerequisites, including the fact that as the world's worst hitter he could never have become an outfielder had he failed at pitching, Harry confused the scouts. He was so calm — I might even go so far as to say lazy — yet he had this occasional stuttering problem, which actually most usually occurred when bashful Harry met a pretty girl.

Every hitter in the league said that Harry didn't have a thing, but they never hit him. He had the occasional stuttering thing, but he was calm. Baseball scouts just don't seem able to comprehend paradoxes, so it was hands off Harry.

Upon graduation, as a matter of fact, Harry rather confused himself. Outside of playing baseball, the only other things he could do were play pool and strum a ukulele. But he was too honest to be a hustler, and he couldn't read music, which led some narrow minded people to believe that he wasn't a qualified musician.

Harry had started picking away on a $5 uke during baseball bus trips and soon became very proficient at it. To this day, he's the only musician I've ever heard who could play the melody — not just strum chords — of "Sabre Dance" on a dime store uke without hitting a clinker.

But just as Harry ignored the high hard one as a conventional weapon in baseball, so he also ignored the convention of learning to read music in his quest to become recognized as a musician.

Harry was patient. He learned other string instruments and while doing so held Post Office and parking lot jobs until he finally got his break at the Red Garter where they don't care if you can read music as long as you're fast, loud and good. Harry fit the pattern.

I was talking to him the other night during a break. Harry is now an old married man with children and obviously no longer shy. He doesn't stutter any more, is still skinny, still doesn't drink, has taken up smoking, and, being away from clubhouses for a decade now, doesn't swear as much as he used to.

Still, Harry hasn't changed much. He's a contented man, happy with his home at Daly City's Top o' the Hill, happy in his position at the Red Garter, which, having no ambitions for the so-called Big Time, he never wants to leave.

"None of that traveling for me," he says, "Why leave something you enjoy."

Over the years Higgins will probably work steadier than many of today's national stars.

And he still, by the way, plays by ear.

"You get rhythm from the air," says Harry. "You don't learn it from sheet music. If I ever learned to read music, it wouldn't be natural anymore and I wouldn't enjoy it as much."

Harry Higgins always did like doing things his own natural way and therein lies the key to his success in business and in life.

He's still playing it by ear, winning without the prerequisites.

Coach Don Stupfel's Warrior varsity swimmers scored a 49½-41½ win over Jefferson at the Jeff pool Thursday.

However, the boys from South S.F. were not as fortunate in the other two divisions as the Indian swimmers grabbed the class B meet, 42-35, and the class C, 30-28.

HEIGHT DISADVANTAGE

Rams Gallant In Losing to St. Elizabeth

By RON REID

As almost everyone predicted, the Westmoor High school Rams bowed out of the Peninsula Basketball tournament with two successive losses, but not before Coach Tony Giammona's cagers had given the eventual champion the scare of its basketball life.

Westmoor dropped a 65-57 tournament opener to powerful St. Elizabeth of the Catholic Athletic league, the team that went on to wi nthe tourney, and followed with a 60-46 loss to Camden in the Rams' first game in the consolation bracket.

But in that first game, Westmoor proved that a team that won't quit is still in the game up tc the final minute.

And like David, the Rams almost succeeded in pulling off the biggest upset since Goliath in their battle with the Mustangs of Oakland.

Westmoor, observers said, had little business on the same court with the rugged Catholic Athletic league champions who had won 24 games before entering the fifth annual post-season prep classic. The North Peninsula league champion had a relatively unimpressive record of 11-7 for the year, which paled into insignificance compared with the tournament's other seven teams.

But the Rams evidently forgot to read the clippings.

Down 14 points at the end of three quarters and vritually out of contention, the Rams staged a fine rally to close within five points of the Mustangs in the last two minutes.

Westmoor outscored St. Elizabeth 20-14 in that final period, chiefly on the uncanny shooting of John Kelly, who scored 13 of his 20-point total in the quarter.

The Mustangs' Mike Wall scored a pair of free throws with 1:40 left in the game, and Ray Breves added a field goal to kill off the Rams' chances of knocking the tourney favorite into the consolation bracket.

Kelly, who was defensed by St. Elizabeth's 6-6, 235-pound center, Kevin Hardy, more than held his own against the toughest competition of the year for the Daly City cagers. Besides his 20 points, which were high for the game, Kelly picked off eight rebounds.

The Rams were also aided by the outside shooting of guards Steve Schmuck and Bruce Hix, who bagged 10 and 13 points each. The Rams made good a highly creditable 21 of 49 field goal attempts and hit on 15 of 21 shots from the line.

But the overall height advantage that St. Elizabeth enjoyed finally spelled the difference against the scrappy, but undersized, Ram aggregation.

"The kids did a great job," stated a pleased Giammona after the game. "They really worked hard."

Against Camden, however, Westmoor's tiredness from the all-out effort of the day before was highly noticeable, and the team shooting suffered most conspicuously. The Rams could make good only 17 of their 60 shots in the game, while Camden's 6-6 center, Keith Swagerty, set three PBT records including a single game scoring mark of 30 points.

Kelly, who hit on six of six free throw tries, led Westmoor's scoring with 18 points.

Warm-up Baseball Planned

The Daly City Department of Recreation will start warm-up baseball leagues Saturday.

These leagues will include midgets, intermediates and juniors.

Midgets teams are comprised of fifth and sixth grade boys who play hardball on regulation softball diamonds.

Intermediates are seventh grade boys who play on a 75-base path diamond with a 56-foot pitching distance.

Junior teams play on a regulation diamond with regulation pitching distance. The warm-up leagues are organized to give coaches a chance to try out their teams in action. The leagues have a schedule of games but no record is kept of wins and losses.

There are no rosters or league fees. The only cost is a $5 forfeit fee that is returned at the end of the season if no games are forfeited by a team.

The Department of Recreation invites all local groups and organizations to enter teams. Information may be obtained at the department, PL 5-0850.

Panthers Defeat Oceana

The Burlingame Panthers erupted for two runs in the top of the seventh inning to come from behind and edge Oceana, 3-2, at Oceana Friday afternoon.

Panther shortstop Mike Beatty led off the seventh with a single. Both Rich Hill and Art Belton walked, loading the bases with two outs. Dave Gurll hit a grounder to short and the relay to second was kicked out of the glove by Belton, allowing Beatty and Hill to score.

Earlier in the game Burlingame took a 1-0 lead in the third when Beatty singled and came home on two errors.

The Sharks tied it up in the bottom of the third and went ahead 2-1 in the fifth frame on a walk and a double.

CSM COACH TO NAVY

Scovil Appointed Aide to Hardin

By JACK BLUTH

College of San Mateo's head football coach, Doug Scovil, 35, was named Monday as an assistant coach to Wayne Hardin at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

The Naval Academy announced that Scovil will join the staff, coaching offensive backs and linebackers.

At the same time, College of San Mateo President Dr. Julio Bortolazzo announced that Cliff Giffen, 40, Scovil's assistant, would take over as CSM's head coach, subject to approval of the district board of trustees.

Scovil, one of the most successful young coaches in the game, has been head coach at CSM since 1958. In his five years here his teams have won 32 games, lost seven and tied five. That record includes three championships.

Giffen also came to San Mateo the same year as Scovil, from Lake Oswego High school in Oregon where he had coached for seven years. He was line coach for three years at Jefferson High school in Portland prior to that time.

Born and raised in Palo Alto, Giffen was a tackle for the University of Oregon during his playing career.

Lowell Veteran

Scovil came to CSM from Sacred Heart High school in San Francisco, where he produced a championship team in 1957. It marked the first football championship for the Catholic school in 50 years.

Born in Anacortes, Washington, Scovil played four years of football at Lowell High school in San Francisco and was named to the All-City team in 1945. He continued his playing career while in the service at Fort Benning, Ga., followed by freshman football at Stockton Junior college. For three years thereafter, he quarterbacked the University of Pacific Tigers at the school where he first met Hardin.

Scovil guided his 1958 Bulldog squad to a 7-2 record and Big Eight title the same season. In 1959 and 1960, Scovil-coached teams finished with identical 6-1-2 records, winning the league championship in 1960.

1961 Big Year

In 1961, Scovil had his most successful year at San Mateo, losing only a 12-7 practice opener to Pasadena en route to a 9-1-0 record and Big Eight championship. His team that year beat previously undefeated Allan Hancock College in the Prune Bowl, 6-0, the only post-season game that the Bulldogs have ever played.

In 1962 his team finished with a 4-2-1 record.

Scovil succeeded Jesse Freitas as CSM head coach and brought the Bulldogs out of the cellar to the Big Eight cochampionship in his first year.

Jefferson Trackmen Beats Vikes

In the 1962 Jefferson grid opponents thought that Leo Gotelli ran fast with a football, they ought to have a look at him fly in track shoes.

Friday the former Indian halfback led coach Bob Lualhati's trackmen past the Mills Vikings, 80-29. Gotelli registered wins in the 120 high hurdles, the 180 low hurdles, and the broad jump.

Husky Rich Waller also got off one of the finer discus throws of the young track season when he flipped the saucer 146-9½.

The Indian class B team also triumphed, but by the narrowest of margins, 57-55.

Mills managed to salvage some dignity as they roared over the Indian class C spikesters, 70-16.

Westlake Bowl

SATURDAY NIGHT will be "Irish Bowlers Night" as the annual St. Patrick's No-Tap Sweeper-Dance-Buffet gets underway at 7. Angie O'Ferrigno and his combo will play for dancing from nine to one, with a buffet served at 11 o'clock. There will be many cash prizes in the No-Tap Sweeper with an entry fee of $3 per person.

Monday is usually a rather quiet evening around Westlake but last week was an exception as seven 600 series were posted. Top honors went to Rich Dryden of Duffy's Tavern for his 688 series on games of 206-237-245. Closely following Rich was Chuck York in the Canco league with a 669 series on games of 199, 203 and 267.

Glen Butcher's 220 game and 621 series led the Sunshine Handicap while a 607 total gave Keith Bipes leadership in the Golden Gate Handicap.

The 805 Scratch league supplied two 600 series as Tom Papes shot games of 220 and 210 on his way to a 609 total with Dan Wong of De Leon Plumbing posting a 217 game and 601 series.

Larry Robeson's 224 game and 601 series provided the seventh 600 series in the Blue Monday Scratch league.

Bonnie Birkett and Del Muskin teamed to take first place in the Monday Handicap Doubles while Jean Lunghi and Nita Del Campo took second place.

A big 608 series by Chris Duff gave him leadership for the week in the Country Club handicap including a 223 game.

TOP HONORS for the leading lady ended in a tie Monday night as Mary Majourau and Bev Cronin tied for top honors at 447 as they led the Starliters, Mary with a 167 game and Bev with a 155 high effort.

Ed Medina shot a 202 game and 558 series as he led the Westmoor Handicap for the week.

Only seven pins kept Carol Dees from the coveted 600 club membership as she led the Ladies 800 Scratch league with a 202 game and big 593 series.

The condolences of all Westlake Bowlers went to league secretaries Helen Matthews and Dick Sheaneck on the death of their father.

Now in progress until midnight March 17 is the annual Westlake League Champion tournament to determine the champion lady and man of 3000 league bowlers now competing at Westlake.

With an entry fee of $3, competition in the tournament is open only to ladies and men who bowl in leagues at Westlake. Qualifying closes at midnight, March 17, with the Grand Rolloffs scheduled for 7 p.m. March 23. There is no cost to the 10 bowlers who qualify for the Rolloffs, the top two in each of the five classes.

Virginia Rowland rolled a 194 game to take top honors in this department as Beryl McGrath shot high series of 430 in the St. Emydius Mothers' Guild league.

Sea Bowl

MOST OFTEN we expect the men to outscore the women in a mixed league—but not always. Last week's Boat club serves as a fine example; Dot Giffin 406, Al Giffin 405, Gerry Holdern 410—Roger Holden 379, Linda Pfeiderer 367—Lee Pfeiderer 361, Bill Messer 350—Marie Messer 392, Dessie Hart 552—Mercer Hart 421, Rita Craig 399—Bob Craig 304, Nancy Jensen 388—Bob Jensen 367, Jack Hughes 328—Colleen Hughes 438 and Jean Sidwell 468—Ken Sidwell 454.

The entries into the team tournament indicate that this, the initial year, will be a huge success. Now a round-up of this last week's scoring.

STEVE NAGY, colorful national bowling champion, is scheduled to appear at Serra Bowl in a special exhibition, Thursday, March 28. Steve will demonstrate the style that won him recent election to the ABC Hall of Fame and won a national match game tournament victory in 1955. He holds the 10-year ABC tournament high average of 208 and has a five-year league average of 205.

John Craft, 155-average bowler, toppled a tremendous 654 series Friday evening on games of 223, 225 and 206 to pace his Westinghouse Electric team to a 3-1 win over the Thomas Pierce Co. five. With this kind of action the Park Merced league, the largest currently bowling at Serra, should have no problems drawing interested bowlers to maintain their 20-team quota for a summer scheduled.

Topping his average by an even 100 pins, Bill Braun copped this week's high game honors with a towering 247 singleton in the B & G Five's league. His 590 tally went a long way towards helping his Alley Cats team sweep all four points from the R. G. Ellis team in spite of a 56-pin handicap giveaway.

Rams Dominate All-NPAL Teams

COACHES BALLOT

SSF, Jeff Each Place 2 Players

The league leaders dominated positions on the first and second teams of the first All-Northern Peninsula League ever named.

Title winner Westmoor landed three players on the two all-star teams. South San Francisco and Jefferson two apiece, and El Camino, Terra Nova and Oceana one each.

Westmoor's John Kelly romped off with a pocketful of honors by being selected Most Valuable Player, the league's top scorer and one of only two unanimous choices on the team.

El Camino's dead-eye guard Hal Westmoreland was the other unanimous selection. Westmoreland was the only junior on the first team.

Giammona Named

In a poll of area sportswriters, Westmoor's Tony Giammona was named Coach of the Year for leading his team to the first title in the new league. The battle for first included a crucial replay of the second half of a protested game with South San Francisco.

The Rams won the replay and thereby gained the crown.

Giammona went on to lead his team to a strong showing against a towering St. Elizabeth's team in the Tournament of Champions in Palo Alto.

The dream team was chosen through all-opponent teams submitted by the league's coaches. Five points were given for a first-team nomination, three points for a second team nomination.

South San Francisco, which was nosed out of the title through an upset win by Jefferson in the season's last game, was the only team to place two men on the starting five. Dave Parenti and Rich Mozzini were named.

Jones Edged

Jefferson's Larry Jones, one of the league's top rebounders, was narrowly edged out of the first team.

John Lieuallen, an unheralded guard at the beginning of the season, led Terra Nova to third place in the final standings after Manuel Pick, a Tiger mainstay, was injured.

Three of the players named to the second team will be back next year. They are Oceana's Dave Breazeale, Westmoor's Mike Morrison and Jefferson's Steve Willis. Both Willis and Breazeale were their team's leading scorers.

Steve Schmuck added to his reputation as an all-round athlete at Westmoor by picking up an all-star position on the second team. Schmuck was named the league's Most Valuable Player during the football season.

Seven other players were named on the coaches' opponent teams. They were: Jefferson's Dan Boden, Oceana's Larry Kinkade, South San Francisco's Bob Szhener, Westmoor's Bill Broughton, El Camino's Rodney Aguilar, and Terra Nova's Rich Scheafer and Dennis Caruthers.

Scoring Crown Taken by Kelly

Westmoor's John Kelly maintained a consistent 17.2 point average throughout the season to barely edge out South San Francisco scoring ace Dave Parenti for the North Peninsula League scoring title.

Kelly scored 172 points to Parenti's 169 to win the crown.

Parenti scored 70 field goals to Kelly's 64, but the Westmoor center had a better mark on the free throw line, 44 to 29.

The South San Francisco sharpshooter led at the halfway mark by virtue of a record-setting output of 40 points against Oceana in the two teams' first encounter.

Kelly had 85 points at the end of five games and added 87 during the second half for his 172 total.

Rich Mozzini, Parenti's South City teammate, came on strong in the second half of play to pull up from seventh to third in the league's scorers with a 154 total.

South San Francisco wound up second in league standings, but dominated the league in both offense and defense. The Warriors scored an average 54.1 points per game while holding their opponents to 39.3.

Westmoor took the title by averaging 53.5 points per game but were easier to score upon. The Ram opponents averaged 46.6 points per game.

Jefferson was second in defense, permitting 41.5 points game.

In free throw accuracy, Rich Mozzini blistered the nets for 33 out of 38 tires or 87 per cent.

Hawks Win 6th Grade Crown

The OLM Hawks are the champions of the Sixth Grade Basketball league, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation department.

The Hawks gained the championship by edging the PAL Vikings in a playoff game, 26-23. The winners had forced the playoff by downing the Vikings in the final game of the regular season to tie the Vikings for first place.

The Hawks thus finished the season with a 7-1 mark, losing only to the Holy Angels Colts. The champs were coached by Paul Churchwell.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

THERE WAS a time when salads, especially molded salads, were considered a ladies' dish, suited for luncheons and filly buffets, but not for hearty man-type meals. Times change, fashions change and certainly eating habits change — and salads are "in" now. From the tossed salad, with its limitless varieties — you can toss most anything into it (and some cooks do) — to the eye-appealing and artistic molds with their color and texture interest, salads are a part of every day eating.

Lettuce, cabbage, spinach and all sorts of greens combine to make the tossed salad delicious. Tomatoes, cucumbers, celery, kidney beans, green beans — in fact, most any vegetable adds color and taste. And the final touch is the dressing.

Salad dressings are easy now; many cooks just dash to the store and buy one of the varieties prepared and ready to serve. Or the types where one adds vinegar and oil. But most of us just grab a bowl and toss in oil, vinegar, salt and whatever seasonings our little hearts desire, or our hands can reach, and mix merrily away. Here is a basic recipe for dressing; these quantities make one cup.

BASIC DRESSING

¾ cup oil
¼ cup vinegar or lemon juice
salt and pepper to taste

A GELATIN MOLD can get your little ones, who frequently avoid vegetables, to eat them with pleasure (if such a miracle is possible). A favorite of long standing is the Golden Glow salad.

GOLDEN GLOW SALAD

1 pkg. lemon jello
1 small can grated pineapple
½ cup grated, raw carrots

Mix the jello according to directions on the package, using the pineapple juice for part of the liquid. When the jello starts to set, mix in the pineapple and grated carrots. To add to the eye appeal, mold it in individual molds.

A SUITABLE dressing for fruit molds would be a combination of mayonnaise with a little fruit juice and a few drops of maraschino cherry juice for coloring.

With all this salad talk we must not forget to add something for the main dish. I found this recipe for fish and spaghetti in a magazine somewhere and found my family liked it. I hope your family will too.

FILLETS AND SPAGHETTI

1 package spaghetti dinner with mushroom sauce
4 cod or sole fillets
1 teaspoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
salt and pepper

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Cook the spaghetti. Roll fillets and fasten with toothpicks. Mix the drained spaghetti with half of the sauce, put in a casserole. Place the rolled fillets on top. Dot with butter. Pour the rest of the mushroom sauce over the fish and spaghetti and sprinkle with parsley and cheese. Bake covered in oven for 20 to 30 minutes. Makes four servings.

DO YOU BELIEVE fruitcake should be reserved only for the Christmas holidays? Or are you a free thinker who believes they are so good that they should be served anytime in the year? If you belong to the latter group, join me next week and we'll talk about making a fruit cake in the month of March.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

THE DATE for the big social event of the year in Pacifica has been set for May 29 so plan now to mark your calendars, purchase your tickets and start shopping for the right gown to wear to the Champagne-Theater Party and International Ball.

This will be the first time Pacifica residents have been treated to such an elaborate affair but the Pacifica chapter of the American Field Service, the group sponsoring the event, hopes it will become the annual highlight of the Pacifica social season.

According to Mrs. Connie Mason, treasurer of the group, all the elements of success are inherent in the undertaking for it will offer fun, beauty and glamor, all for the benefit of a very worthy cause.

The Pacifica chapter of AFS is very new and many local residents are still not aware of its existence or its goals. So a few lines of explanation are in order. AFS is the national organization, with main offices in New York, which sponsors the exchange student program.

The local chapter, which only last week submitted its charter for approval, is the brainchild of Mrs. Marian Ballew. Early this year, she called a meeting of Pacifica's social leaders to discuss the possibility of taking part in the exchange student program. By February, the group was formed and began to organize under the rules of procedure established by the national organization. The unit hopes to raise the $700 necessary to bring one foreign student to Terra Nova High school in time for the fall semester. By the following September, the group hopes to have an additional $700 so they may qualify to send a Pacifica student overseas to study.

The Reverend John Fredrick of St. Edmunds Episcopal Mission is the president of the group. Lyle Planje, manager of the Pacifica Wells Fargo bank, is the vice president. Other officers are: Mrs. Ballew, president of the Federated Women's club, secretary, and Mrs. Mason, president of the Terra Nova P-TA, treasurer.

Committee members are: finance, Mario Torrigino, co-owner of the Coastside Scavenger company, chairman, and Basil Gladieux, manager of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Mason; homes committee, Dora Payne, chairman, and Marvin Dutton and Melvin Mann. All three are affiliated with the Laguna Salada school district. Howard Hoops, director of the Pacifica Red Cross, will be in charge of the Americans Abroad committee and Dr. Hal Tonini and Ernest Ribera, principals of Terra Nova and Oceana High schools, will be school advisors.

Anyone interested in the AFS and its work may contact and talk with any of the officers or committeemen.

HOME AFTER spending three days in Sacramento is Mrs. John Madrosen of Elmwood drive in Westlake. Mrs. Madrosen, director of the Lakeside Presbyterian Church Nursery school in San Francisco, was attending a conference for private nursery school directors.

CURRENTLY the modest recipient of many well deserved compliments is Mrs. Thomas Bocci, of Daly City.

Mrs. Bocci designed the interior decor of her husband's new law offices at 421 Grand avenue in South San Francisco and the effect she has achieved is truly stunning. Mrs. Bocci selected Danish modern furniture with white upholstery and a blue and purple rug for the reception room. She accented that with oriental bric-a-brac to achieve an effect that has viewers raving about the beauty.

THE CUB SCOUTS of Pack 63 staged their blue and gold banquet and pinewood derby recently and young Bruce Tronoff's wooden speedster carried off first prize in the speed event.

Fifty-one five-ounce racing cars were entered in the derby and each was judged for speed and beauty. Scott Rogers and David Glass received second and third prizes. Dr. Earl S. Herald, Al Goodwin and Kurt Wolff made up the panel of judges in the beauty contest and Keith Headman, Paul Dilbeck and Paul Vinson received top honors in this division.

Fathers Ed Headman and Del Dilbeck helped the evening proceed smoothly by directing the weighing in of the cars and announcing the races.

What's Doing At Westmoor

By SHERRY ROSEN

AN UNIDENTIFIED shrill scream piercing the stillness of the halls on Tuesday morning caused much speculation in surrounding second period classrooms. In Dexter Leland's class, the civics mentor had just cracked a joke and the perfect timing of the scream prompted senior Jack Kelly to announce, "Well, they finally got it!" And in Room 35, Alvin Wolf paused in his U. S. history lecture long enough to sigh regretfully, "I told him not to browbeat his students like that . . ."

SPORTS SHORTS: Westmoor High is now the proud holder of the North Peninsula league championship. The season's struggle was climaxed last Monday afternoon at the victorious re-play of the second half of the WHS-South City game, repeated because of a controversy over the scoring. To assure the team of enough rooters, the rally committee staged rallies in the cafe during both lunches.

Bocci Sued In Dispute Over Claims

A San Bruno mother of six today filed a $50,000 malpractice suit against Thomas L. Bocci, attorney and former judge.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Bernadine Leazer, 1192 Clark avenue, charged that Bocci neglected to file a suit for her to collect damages for injuries she suffered in a car accident.

Mrs. Leazer's new attorney, John F. Harper of San Francisco, said the accident happened October 8, 1961 while his client was taking driving lessons in an adult class sponsored by the South San Francisco school district.

Mrs. Leazer, the wife of a mail carrier, was strapped in the back seat, and the instructor and another student, who was driving, were in the front, Harper said. When the instructor told the student to apply the brakes, according to Harper, "she stood the car on end." Mrs. Leazer, the suit states, jerked forward against the strap and suffered back and neck injuries. Harper said the injuries still bother her.

Bocci denied that he had agreed to file a damage suit for Mrs. Leazer, and made this statement:

"She hasno case. I am not worried. We tried to help her as a courtesy. She came to us ten months after the accident. The 100-day period in which to file a claim against the district had elapsed. We tried to negotiate a settlement for her.

Contracts at Coast School

In other action, the board discussed the Robert Smice unification resolution at length but adjourned without taking any action.

Smice's resolution is to accept the San Mateo county school district unification committee's proposal, with certain reservations.

The trustees approved also preliminary plans for the Fairmont school, one of three schools scheduled for the new Fairmont subdivision.

The tentative plans call for 20 classrooms, two kindergartens, a library and a cafeteria at a cost of approximately $750,000.

The board gave the new school its tentative name of Fairmont, but added that it hoped that the residents of the new area would

Negotiations for the sites of the other two schools have not yet been completed.

THERE'S AN impressive plaque inside Oakland's new international airport that lists a number of notable feats recorded by pioneer aviators who made Oakland either the starting point or terminus for their achievements.

The list begins with the first flight from the United States mainland to Hawaii, made by Army Lieutenants Lester J. Maitland and Albert F. Hegenberger June 28-29, 1927, in their tri-motor craft, "Bird of Paradise."

It ends with the first solo flight from Honolulu to the mainland, achieved by Amelia Earhart January 11-12, 1935. The plaque ends on this solemn note:

"Dedicated to the aviators who established this historic reward of aviation achievements at Oakland Airport and, by their pioneering, advanced the development of air transportation."

Now this all sounds great and noble and fine. And rightly so. But in the light of stark reality these days in Oakland, that plaque would more aptly read:

"Dedicated to a monumental example of misguided civic pride."

For today, three days shy of completing its first half year after dedication, Oakland's International International airport has not only become a $20-million white elephant, it's become one of the great oddities of the Bay Area.

This striking example of jet-age airport technology and facilities has so tickled the curiosity of not only the citizens of Oakland but other Bay Area residents as well that most of the people you see at the airport these days come to gawk—not to travel.

They come to gawk, not so much at the facilities —which are magnificent—but at the almost total lack of activity usually associated with a major airport.

Oakland's pride or folly, depending upon how you look at it, has almost a funereal-like atmosphere. Momentum is largely absent. Nobody seems to be in a hurry. But then, rarely is anybody around to be in a hurry.

Although the airport can handle up to 10 planes at one time, only six scheduled airliners leave in each 24-hour period. Most of the activity you see is carried on by SFO Helicopter Airlines.

This busy carrier runs 33 flights every day over to big league San Francisco International Airport across the bay where they can't keep up with the business on some days.

WE GOT CURIOUS ourselves the other day about the white elephant and drove over to see if what everybody is snickering about—and some people are angrily shouting about—is all true. Well, it is!

The first thing you notice is that the airport approach highway is a fine, four-lane divided road with aesthetically pleasing mushroom-type light standards. The four lanes, however, seem extravagant. The amount of traffic we saw en route to and from the airport was just about non-existent.

The highway winds around a spacious parking lot, built to accommodate some 2000 cars but which on our visit held less than 125. The autos that were there were all at one end, giving the appearance they were huddling together for moral support in the face of such lonely surroundings.

As you approach the curved glass-fronted ticketing building, you notice that doors lead directly from the outside to each individual airline counter.

A nice feature except that only 11 carriers, including five you've probably never heard of—occupy this building, which is nearly three city blocks long.

On the day of our visit, we counter just seven peo-

On the day of our visit, we counted just seven peoairline, a sign asked patrons to check in with another carrier.

At the southern end of this building is probably one of the lonliest individuals at the airport. He's the guy who mans one of the two auto rental desks in the building. We didn't see a customer during our hour visit.

At the other desk, there wasn't anybody there to be lonely. A sign asked prospective customers to inquire at the flight insurance counter.

SO MUCH for the ticketing building. If we thought things were a little slow there, we were in for a lesson on how just quiet things could REALLY get. The lesson began as we entered the two-story main passenger waiting area.

Of 124 seats on the main floor, only one was occupied. A handful of people were on the second floor observation deck. About the only sound was recorded music from the public address system and the soft hum of air-conditioning equipment.

In the plush and very comfortable-looking Savarin International Room restaurant on the second floor, a half dozen people were seen in a room that easily could accommodate more than 100.

A sign that declared that the Oakland Kiwanis club met there Wednesday mornings at 7:15 made you wonder why such an early hour. Certainly not to avoid the crowds.

One of the most attractive features of the airport, we discovered, was the Tower Lounge, located on the eighth floor of the control tower, just below the main control center. Here in a motif of luxurious blue carpeting, paneled walls huge windows you gain a parnoramic view of the Bay Area.

You also are supposed to see all the airliners come and go and all the activity on the passenger loading pads below. Well, you do—when a plane comes in—but these moments are rare.

Another attractive feature of the airport is a battery of 24 clocks in the main passenger waiting room —showing the time in each of the world's 24 time zones. By picking out the appropriate clock, presumable you could tell what time a loved one will arrive in some far off place.

The only trouble here is that with the exception of one non-scheduled airline, nothing but nothing flies international to or from Oakland's International Airport.

SO SLOW is the pace at this airport that during the hour we were there, we heard the public address announcer, a gal who sounded like Marlene Dietrich, give forth with only four pronouncements.

One was a call for the airport janitor to contact the airport information center; the second was an announcement that all cars parked in a no-parking area in front of the ticketing building would have to be removed; the third was a repeat of the second coupled with a warning that citations would be issued if the cars weren't removed and the fourth was the startling announcement that a plane was due to arrive.

This last bit of information triggered the most activity we saw during our visit and for a while, the white elephant gave the appearance of looking a bit alive.

Long Battle To Torpedo School Unity

The San Francisco law firm that filed suit Thursday against the State School Unification Plan was fighting unification in San Mateo county more than five years ago.

In February, 1958, Rodney Robertson of the firm of Barnett and Robertson threatened to bring suit against a proposal to unify the Jefferson High School district.

The action filed in San Francisco Thursday was a suit on behalf of 41 school districts in 14 counties challenging the constitutionality of the state law that requires each county to submit plans for unification by September of this year. Woodside is the only district in San Mateo county to participate in the court action, agreeing to contribute $3000 over a three-year period.

Robertson said he thought other local districts would have joined the suit if they had not received "some discouragement at the district attorney's level."

Raising Funds

Proposals sent out by the law firm called for the raising of $150,000 to fight the state act, of which $100,000 would be for legal fees and $50,000 for costs. Robertson said about 30 of the districts agreed to contribute the maximum of $3000. Other contributions ranged from $500 to a low of $100.

In 1958 Robertson sent a letter to the county School District Organization committee, threatening to sue on behalf of unnamed clients unless the committee called off its study of the proposal to unify the Jefferson district.

The committee asked County Superintendent of Schools James R. Tormey to try to identify the clients represented by Robertson in the threatened suit. Tormey's findings were reported to the committee in a closed personnel session and were not made public.

Chairman of the committee at that time was Chester Lipman of Burlingame, a manufacturer of school equipment. Other members of the committee voted that Lipman should disqualify himself from consideration of the Jefferson proposal. Lipman never attended another meeting of the committee and submitted his resignation in June, 1958.

Plan Killed

After a series of hearings, the unification plan was killed in December of that year.

When Lipman's sister, Natalie Lipman, who had been superintendent of the Brisbane and Bayshore districts, both of which are in the Jefferson area, filed suit against some Brisbane trustees, Tormey and District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson, the case was handled by Robertson. She charged the defendants wrongfully caused her dismissal from the Brisbane job and asked $270,000 damages. The case is still pending.

Robertson's most recent court action in San Mateo county was a suit against the county's approval of transfer of 75 homes from the Bayshore to the Brisbane district. Robertson lost the case last week but said today he intends to file a new suit next week.

Daly City Girl Tells Of Kidnap

A 15-year-old Daly City girl jumped from a moving auto last week after she had been forced into the vehicle by a man who said he would shoot her unless she got into his car.

Police reported that Carol Joyce Albert, 501 Evergreen avenue, suffered cuts and abrasions on her left arm and leg when she tumbled out of the slowing moving car near Crocker avenue and Scenic way, Daly City.

The girl gave this sequence of events to police:

She was walking on Evergreen near her home when the motorist drove up at 8:15 p.m. and asked her for directions for a street in San Francisco.

After receiving instructions, he drove a short distance, made a U-turn and approached the girl again.

When she refused his request to get into his car, he threatened:

"I have a gun pointed at your head and if you don't get in, Ill shoot you."

Miss Albert said she got into the car and as the motorist drove slowly near Crocker and Scenic, she jumped out.

She told police that the man had his hand under his sweater as if he were holding a gun. She said she did not see the weapon at any time.

She also told police that the motorist did not at any time make any advances while she was in the car. She described him as about 20, thin and with curly hair. She described the car as about a 1950 or 1951 model.

Building Code Manual Offered

Pacifica has decided to purchase 200 copies of the "Dwelling House Construction" book for use by home builders.

The book includes a complete guideline to the uniform building code and will be sold at cost by the city's new building inspection department.

Campaign Plans Mapped

DRIVE UNDERWAY — Mayor Joseph Verducci of Daly City talks over plans for forthcoming fund drive, to be undertaken by the Peninsula Chapter of the Leukemia society, with volunteers Pamela Wright, left, and Jeanne Pavlovic. Pamela is with the student placement office at San Francisco State college and Jeanne is a student at the college.

Leukemia Society Plans Drive for Contributions

The Peninsula chapter of the Leukemia society will conduct its first door-to-door campaign for funds, starting Sunday, March 24, and continuing for a week.

Students and other volunteers have been conducting a telephone campaign to interest additional volunteers to participate in the drive as fund collectors.

Henry Doelger incorporated has donated space to the chapter in the Westlake office building at 375 South Mayfair avenue to help launch the campaign.

Residents interested in volunteering as marchers may call the chapter at WY 2-4474.

Leukemia, according to figures compiled by the society, claims the life of one American every 45 minutes.

Funds are needed to finance research aimed at finding a cure for the disease and to treat those who become its victims.

Scientists report a cure is now in sight.

During the one-week campaign, volunteers equipped with official blue and white kits will call upon residents for contributions.

"Since You Asked Me..."

Do you think women should work?

Mrs. James C. Adams, 150 Coronado avenue, Daly City, housewife: "Well, sometimes it can't be heldped. I do think though that if there are children in the family it would be better for the mother to stay at home."

Mrs. B. B. Johnson, 300 Palmcrest avenue, Daly City, sales clerk: "I think women have to work. There are jobs, such as waitresses, sales clerks and the like, that are best done by women. Can you imagine a man selling women's clothing?"

Bob Painter, 168 Ardendale drive, Daly City, insurance executive: "I think there are jobs that are only for women. If they have the ability to compete with men in other fields they should be permitted. After all, if they have the brains to do a better job they should have it."

Thomas Grainger, 49 Southridge street, Daly City, service station manager: "I think they should be limited in the jobs they compete in. They are depriving a man, usually the breadwinner, of a job because, in most cases, they want extra money. It's okay for them to be waitresses, clerks and things like that, but that is where the line should be drawn."

Carol Brackett, 415 Belfast avenue, Pacifica, sales clerk: "Why not. In many cases they can do a better job than men. What do you want them to do—just sit at home and do nothing until they get married. Then after they get married just sit around and have kids?"

Students Attend Asilomar Session On Human Right

Thought - provoking discussion, interesting speakers, and the opportunity to meet fellow students from all over the world were provided for eight Westmoor students who attended the Asilomar Conference on Human Rights.

Activities for students began soon after their arrival with a general session. The guest speaker was James Farmer, director of the Congress of Racial Equality and one of the first freedom riders.

"Although the conference was officially, it is obvious from the enthusiasm of the students involved that ramifications of the ideas introduced there will be evident for some time to come," commented Westmoor representative, Jack Petranker.

Other students from Westmoor attending the conference included: Ann Irby, Jim Butler, Kathy Adams, Walter Hobb, Nick Freiberg, Diana Stipelkovich and Sally Caldwell.

STEREO SET TAKEN

Howard Siegel, 18 Crestwood drive, reported to Daly City police last week that thieves stole a stereo set and speaker from his apartment.

Classes Visit S.F. Bay Model

Two third grade classes at Olympia school have visited the San Francisco Bay Model of the U.S. Corps of Engineers in Sausalito.

The trip began a new unit of study, "The San Francisco Bay Area," for the classes of Mrs. Patricia Mattson and Mrs. Foula Lamp.

Two student teachers, Mrs. Joyce Le Grange and Marquerite Scarato, and two mothers, Mrs. John Griffith and Mrs. Monte Hill, accompanied the classes.

Candidates Interviewed

Pacifica city councilmen met in closed personnel last week to interview more candidates for city service on commissions and boards.

To be selected is a committee to study establishing a police and fire commission for the city.

Councilmen have agreed to draw up a procedure under which the mayor will announce new appointees and explain duties, terms of office and the approximate time they will spend.

In other action, Mayor George Mason, Councilmen Fred Ballew and City Manager Karl Baldwin met with members of the Westview Improvement club to review progress of city action in the area's clean-up campaign.

Joint inspections of homes is being continued by police, fire and public health officials. Westview residents urged city officials to take over maintenance of the much-abused horse-riding trail in Westview.

Emory Lebonville, Westview leader, commended the city for action in initiating abatement proceedings against an abandoned and neglected Westview home that resulted in the owner's immediate action in cleaning and renovating the dwelling.

Prospect Bright For S.M. State College: Ryan

The San Mateo State college is now a matter of waiting and dating.

The state college board of trustees Friday in its final report said increasing college-age population of San Mateo county was a matter of "substantial concern" and passed on a staff study to the Co-ordinating Council for Higher Education.

The waiting involves working the program up through the appropriate channels. The dating involves determining the actual date the college will begin operations.

The co-ordinating council will establish priorities for the state colleges and submit its recommendations to the legislature. Assemblyman Leo Ryan (D-South San Francisco) said the recommendations would "hopefully" be readied by early April. In mid-April the recommendations are expected to be presented formally to the legislature.

Favorable Report

Ryan said, "I am more and more sure the report will be favorable, putting San Mateo at the top of the list." Ryan said from the comments made and the interest shown at the board of trustees meeting, he was sure that a local state college "is immediately ahead of us." Both Ryan and assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi (R-Redwood City) spoke to the trustees on the local need for a state college.

The college would need top priority ranking from the legislature to open in 1965. After legislative approval, the college would still need voter approval in the form of bond issue financing.

Cafe Plan In Pacifica Considered

The Pacifica planning commission last night listened to a proposal for a new $2,000,000 restaurant-moetl-apartment complex planned for historic Mori's Point.

Bill Hodgkiss, of Wilsey, Ham and Blair, representative for the Mori's Point development corporation, made the preliminary presentation.

The new development would replace the historic Mori's Point restaurant, built in 1870. Feature of the new complex would be a huge, circular restaurant "in the round" with a 360-degree view of the Pacific ocean.

Also included in the proposed development are a 48-unit motel, 12 duplex units and 18 apartments.

In other action, the commission scheduled a fourth meeting for continued discussion on a proposed service station at the end of Linda Mar boulevard.

Bertolucci's a Most Outstanding Restaurant

Bertolucci's can easily be called a decorator's dream. Gold, yellow and white predominates the scheme—with an accent of walnut panelling. Soft, indirect lighting gives a suffused glow over all. Most impressive, upon entering Bertolucci's, is the massive door with huge gold handles of the Italian Renaissance on wood of yellow ash. A wall separates the cocktail lounge from the dining room—partly by a fountain that has marble balls hanging from the ceiling like a curtain. Booths covered in gold naugahyde surround both the dining room and cocktail lounge. There are two tastefully decorated banquet rooms—one seating up to 50 persons and the other, 100. Bertolucci's, truly one of the most outstanding Italian restaurants in the Bay Area, is widely known for serving delightful French and Italian cuisine. Both a la carte and full course menu selections.

THE "OLES" HAVE BEEN LONG AND LOUD for Luz Garcia's current Sinaloa production "Holiday in Mexico." After catching the show the other evening, I can say with authority that this is one of the Mexican cantina's most colorful floor show offerings.

Pojo and Bina's Indian Fire Dance is a show stopper; Juan El Mago, whose voice is well known to Sinaloa patrons, sings to his own guitar accompaniment.

Victor Buelna

Master of ceremonies for this lavish production is very capably handled by handsome Armando Duval, who ad libs with the ringsiders, sings, and dances his way to many rounds of applause. Sam Segrave's orchestra backs the show, which is featured three times nightly, seven days a week.

The Sinaloa is far famed for serving delicious Mexican food. A 30-year restaurant reputation of successful operation is the proud boast of Owner Luz Garcia.

TO MAKE YOUR MOUTH WATER, here is what to expect when stopping by Bodee Cominoli's Pioneer Hotel, in Woodside, any Sunday morning for a Sourdough Breakfast: Choice of fruit juice, figs, prunes, or grapefruit sections; delicious sourdough pancakes; Canadian bacon; melted butter; syrup or jam; (blue berry muffins by request); and coffee. There are also two other a.m. dandies: The Stagecoach Stop Breakfast and the Hunter Breakfast. Make up a party any Sunday morn and enjoy these tasty morsels in an atmosphere of the Old West . . . Bill Donnelly has a winner at the Millbrae Thunderbird Hotel since adding the $2.95 dinners in the Crystal Dining Room. There is also a Sunday Buffet for the same price (children under 12 years dine for $1.75). Great table spread for "pickers" who enjoy selecting a little of this and a lot of that . . .

St. Patrick's Celebrations at Lake Tahoe and Bay Meadows

BARNEY O'MALIA, the Lake Tahoe (South Shore), Nevada Casino owner, is extending his St. Patrick's Day party celebration: Next Saturday, Barney and a group of friends will be Joe Cohen's guests at Bay Meadows Race Track—the Seventh Race will be named Barney's Casino Handicap. For the occasion, Mr. O'Malia ordered a huge four-leaf shamrock covered with silver dollars to present to the owner of the winning horse. After the race, it's off to Nevada to start a two-day celebration at the casino. Shamrocks (flown direct from Ireland), hats, pipes, and everything bearing the Irish colors, will be used in celebrating the "Winning O' the Green" for St. Patrick's Day patrons. Your dollar coupons will provide the startin' money. And with a shamrock for a good luck piece, it should be "now or never" for the "winner's circle." . . .

Enrico Romano On the Scout

Enrico Romano is on the scout for another restaurant site. Last Tuesday morn found him scanning the Burlingame territory in the company of a contractor and a real estate salesman. The grass is mighty green in Pacifica, man. What's that old saying?—"where the grass is green you'll find the "long green." Just a thought.

Phil Lehr, the San Francisco restaurant man who introduced and popularized cutting steaks to order and paying according to the per ounce price of the portion cut, is well on his way to becoming the City's banquet king. The Steakery's three beautifully appointed, private dining rooms, to accommodate parties of 10 to 125, are booked almost daily for luncheon and dinner social events and meetings.

Steakman Lew Lehr has a name for Gary Crosby, Bing's boy: "Son of White Christmas."

Nick Finocchio's San Francisco New Tivoli was the dining scene for the San Francisco Civil Service Assn. annual banquet.

It's "batter up" and the J and G Restaurant—with spaghetti and meat balls "dished" up to the "plate" in old Roman style. Guido Bianchina and Joe Selmi are the "battery." You're "safe" when selecting the J and G as one of the best in the Italian food "line up."

Joe Cohen, the Bay Meadows "sparker," had dinner at the New Southern, the other p.m., and answered turf questions from owners Freddy Martinelli, Reno and Julio Donati between bites of chicken and dumplings, house specialty. The New Southern will have a race named in its honor at the coming meet and you can be sure the entire staff will be on hand.

Overheard as a middle-aged, career-type gal left early from a cocktail party at Rocca's restaurant:

"I know the party won't break up for a while, but let's face it —I'm just broken down."

No business lull at Keith's Chicken House — Lenten or no. Keith added a sea food menu to his pop. chicken and steak presentation.

VIENNA WATKINS, former assistant to manager Frank Dennison at the Caravan Inn is once again acting in the same capacity having returned from an extended tour of Europe where she aquired many new ideas in the restaurant and hotel field.

Officials Gather At Red Lion Inn

Last Wednesday, it looked as though the Hall of Justice had moved to new quarters — the Lion's Den—what with all the governmental officials seen enjoying the gourmet lunch served in this new luncheon spot for "Men Only."

County Manager E. R. Stallings, the Board of Supervisors—T. Louis Chess, James V. Fitzgerald, William M. Werder, Alvin S. Hatch, and E. R. McDonald, along with the City Managers of the Peninsula and Chamber of Commerce heads, were among those noted.

Suggestion for a Ling's take out order: Sweet and sour boneless chicken or chicken salad Chinese style. This is a house specialty — and also one of mine.

Frank and Horky Schy have a special that's hard for Mexican food fanciers to overlook. It's a $2.40 Mexican Chuck Wagon and is served at the Palo Alto Horky's only.

Cafe Del Rio Open Once More

Helen and Karl Resch, owners of the Cafe del Rio, are back from their yearly vacation which took them over 1000 miles into Mexican territory. They were joined by Frank and Fannie Torres, the Montara Beach restaurant team. Judging from the "good time" conversation, a return visit is on next year's schedule.

The Cafe del Rio, located in historic Almaden — 12 miles south of San Jose on Almaden Rd., is one of Santa Clara's finest restaurants. Dancing Friday and Saturdays. Restaurant not open on Monday and Tuesdays.

Meet Da Mob At Big Al's

It's not hard to turn back the calendar a few years at Big Al's Gashouse. Slip in some evening and take a gander at the relics of the 20s (not the personnel). Spend some happy hours listening to the Chicago-style entertainment provided by the Banjo Bands. Ragtime is the theme. 23 varieties of beer from which to choose; pizza served Chicago style. In the words of Owner Geary Leason, "Come out and meet da mob or pick up a pizza and take it for a ride." No shoulder holsters, please.

Pancho's Mexican Cafe (Five Points in Redwood City) will serve a special Lenten menu, along with the selective Mexican dishes. Pancho's is open seven days a week, both lunch and dinner.

Frank Torres' Montara Beach Hotel is one of the most popular spots for bridal parties. Seems almost every time I stop in Frank is arranging for a nuptial event. The banquet room (private bar and dance floor) is located downstairs from the main dining room and comfortably seats 300 guests.

For a lively time — entertainment-wise, you're sure to be satisfied with the evening presentation at Sal and George's Derby in Redwood City.

Attention, all clam chowder gourmets: Frank Dennison, manager of the ultra-modern Mountain View Caravan Inn, has come up with a dandy luncheon idea. Every Friday, the chef prepares a Boston clam chowder which is served in special bowls and side-dished with French bread. This is a real feast.

Track Stars—Attention!

Al Dote and The Kingsmen, a well-established musical group at Milt Tonni's Princeton Inn, play for dancing Friday and Saturday nights. The Inn's dance floor is so large that there is room for a relay race around the outer section of the dining room.

When you want to see your favorite Giant baseball star during home plays, the Benjamin Franklin Greenwillow dining room is their frequent breakfast or dinner hour target. This hotel has been "home plate" for the Giants since their advent to the Bay Area.

Always enjoy a relaxing few moments in the Rubaiyat Lounge at Omar Khayyam's, where host-owner George Mardikian sees that a large "slice it yourself" cheese is available with plenty of crackers for during-cocktails munching.

Popular Italian singer Gino Baldi, who is getting some training in the restaurant business between engagements with his cousin, Bruno Scatena, at Joe's of Westlake, has an offer to sing in a top San Francisco night club before going to Las Vegas.

Hillcrest Hall Bids

Bids for providing two prefabricated steel buildings for temporary use at Hillcrest Juvenile Hall are to be opened by the county board of supervisors March 25.

Henry Tarratt, county building director, estimates the structures will cost $35,000. They are to be placed temporarily in separate courtyard areas while construction of permanent improvements is doing on.

"It is unfortunate," Tarratt said, "that we must construct some temporary buildings for a period of approximately one and one-half years. However, the population is so great that it is an absolute necessity that some additional space be provided."

One of the buildings will accommodate 20 boys. The other will be used for a classroom.

Tarratt said the structures will be designed so that they can be moved easily to other locations. When they are no longer needed at Hillcrest, they are to be moved either to the sheriff's honor camp or to the boys ranch near La Honda.

Jeff, Westmoor Teachers at State Meet

George Simon, Westmoor High school industrial arts teacher, will be working overtime tomorrow through Saturday as registration chairman for the Annual California Industrial Education association convention.

Simon had held office in the San Mateo County Industrial Education association, and is serving now as secretary-treasurer of the Bay section.

To be held at Brooks hall in San Francisco, the convention will feature exhibits of manufacturing, equipment technology for teaching, and a "scramble session" Saturday where the best teaching methods will be discussed.

Speaking before the 3000 industrial educators will be Dr. Ben Willis, superintendent of schools in Chicago and Mr. Ken Dawson, secretary-treasurer of the American Association of Industrial Arts. Also speaking on the convention's theme, "Challenge in Industry," will be Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of California schools, and Dr. Marshall Schmitt from the U. S. Office of Education.

Westmoor High school seniors Mike Hunter and Tom Ottoman will also be at the convention, demonstrating the latest techniques in drafting.

Durant Moseley, Jefferson High school teacher, will act as educational exhibits chairman for the three-day event.

All San Mateo county industrial arts and vocation teachers have been invited to attend the session, which will be climaxed Saturday night with a banquet and installation of officers at San Francisco State college.

10,000 Babies At Peninsula

A baby boy, born to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Boyd of Millbrae Saturday became the 10,000th baby born at Peninsula hospital in Burlingame.

To celebrate the event, which occurred during the hospital's observance of its ninth anniversary, Peninsula hospital administrator Richard W. Blaisdell presented the new baby with a $25 United States Savings Bond and the Peninsula Hospital auxiliary presented a baby book to the proud parents.

The young man who has not yet been named weighed eight lbs., three ounces and is 21 inches long. He has two sisters and brothers waiting at the family home, 1340 Murchison drive, Millbrae for a look at the newcomer who is receiving so many honors. They are Deanna, 5; Richard 3 and Laurie, 2. Dad is general manager of United Shoppers, merchandise organization, San Francisco.

Oceana Slates Open House

Oceana High school will demonstrate classroom closed-circuit television at an Open House Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The Pacifica high school is one of only two schools in California using the system. The experiment under the direction of Layton Jones, who is studying for his doctorate in "science education by television." Jones is head of the science-math department at Oceana.

The open house will climax the five week experiment made possible by DAGE Corporation, which loaned the equipment to the school.

Classes by television in chemistry, spanish, typing, biology, physical education and French are scheduled for the open house program.
